BREACH BETWEEN FACTIONS

Result of Prohibition Would Probably Be to Return to Open Saloons.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALEIGH, N. C., May 2.—The conference last night, called by Mayor Johnson between the leaders of the present movement for an election on the question of "dispensary" or "prohibition" and temperance forces of the city, who are opposing any action on the question at this time, did not result in any agreement, and, in fact, widened the breach between them. The election advocates will proceed with the completion of their petitions, while many of the leaders in previous temperance efforts, including W. N. Jones, N. B. Broughton, Josephus Daniels and a number of prominent ministers and laymen of the churches declare that they will not participate in an election at this time if it is called. Their contention is that prohibition now would result in no enforcement, so that the ultimate result would be a return to open saloons.

WILL NOT RUN.

Governor Aycock Does Not Aspire to Be U. S. Senator.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., May 2.—Editor C. C. McMichael, of the Madison Herald, was in the city between trains yesterday afternoon. Mr. McMichael, who is an enthusiastic admirer of Chas. B. Aycock, stated that he received a letter from the ex-Governor Monday, stating that he was not and would not be an aspirant this year for the office now held by United States Senator E. M. Simmons. The next Legislature will elect a successor to Mr. Simmons, and the Madison editor is one of those who believes that ex-Governor Aycock could win in a walk should he enter the senatorial race.

"You may say," continued Mr. McMichael, "that old Rockingham is coming to the front, and that the proposition to issue $300,000 in bonds for good roads will win by a good majority at the election to be held on May 12th."

ABUSED THE EDITOR.

Strange Man Called Down by the Police Authorities.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
SALISBURY, N. C., May 2.—A stranger purporting to be an ex-convict from the Texas penitentiary, who has been in Salisbury for the past two days, delivering free street lectures, was hauled down from his perch on a box last night by Chief of Police J. Frank Miller for abusing Mr. John M. Julian, editor of the Salisbury Evening Post. The Post published a notice of the presence of the stranger, alluding to him as an impostor, which statement drew the fire of his tongue in most abusive language. The Mayor of Salisbury also refused to allow the stranger to lecture on the streets of Salisbury. He claimed that after being sentenced to hang he was committed for life imprisonment, and that at the end of five years he was found to be an innocent man and released.

Concealed Weapons.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
SALISBURY, N. C., May 2.—The unceremonious killing of George W. A. Higgins in this city on last Sunday by John Black (colored), who made good his escape, has aroused a fresh interest in this section in the law against carrying concealed weapons. Mayor A. H. Boyesen, of Salisbury, announces his purpose to send each and every offender to the Superior Court under a heavy bond. Mr. Higgins was shot without a moment's warning by a negro who refused to occupy a Jim Crow seat in a street car.

New Bank Opens.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., May 2.—The Forsyth Bank and Trust Company, of Kernersville, had an auspicious opening yesterday. One of the directors reports that the number of depositors was much larger than anticipated, as was the amount of the deposits. The institution promises to do a large and successful business.

Will Be Represented.

able to attend the session of the conference, which convened in Lexington, Ky., tomorrow. This city will be represented at the conference, however, by Mrs. Lindsey Patterson.

CONVENTION OF WOMEN.

Federation of Woman's Clubs of North Carolina in Session.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 2.—The fourth annual convention of the North Carolina Federation of Woman's Clubs convened in the parlors of the Colonial Club this morning, and was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. T. Alderman, of Henderson.
Mrs. J. B. Kelly, president of the Charlotte Woman's Club, delivered an address of welcome, which was responded to by Miss Gertrude, of Godshere. The annual report of the president was followed by an address by Miss Louise B. Popenheim, of South Carolina, representative of the General Federation, who urged thorough organization.
There are more than fifty States in attendance besides a great number of visiting ladies. Local society leaders are vying in their efforts to entertain the visitors. Chief among these social functions will be the big reception at the Manufacturers' Club tomorrow afternoon.

STRICKEN ON STREET.

Baptist Pastor is Extremely Ill in a Norfolk Hospital.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, VA., May 2.—The Rev. Dr. E. A. Owen, for twenty-six years pastor of the Court Street Baptist Church, of Portsmouth, former president of the Virginia State Baptist Association and at present the Portsmouth District evangelist of the Baptist Church, is extremely ill at St. Vincent's Hospital, this city. He was operated on at the hospital last Monday, and while he successfully stood the operation, the crisis in his case is said to be by no means past. He was stricken down last week on a Portsmouth Street. Reports from his bedside this afternoon were to the effect that he was not doing very well.

Captain Under Arrest.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, VA., May 2.—Captain Goodwin, of the British steamship Yearside, was before United States Commissioner Stephenson today on the charge of having permitted the escape from his vessel, now at Newport, (near Jamestown), of a stowaway, Immigration Inspector Morton preferred the charge against the shipmaster, and Anderson himself was in court to testify against him. Commissioner Stephenson reserved his decision. In case the decision should result adversely for the captain, he will have to take Anderson back to England and would also be subject to a fine of $50 for violation of the immigration laws in permitting an alien to leave his ship.

Heard Governor Glenn.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
DURHAM, N. C., May 2.—Governor R. B. Glenn made a temperance lecture to the citizens of Durham to-night. The citizens crowded to hear him, and he made a most enthusiastic temperance talk. Other things the Governor spoke about was law and order.

Cars Now Running.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
STAUNTON, VA., May 2.—The street cars were started here in full blast this evening. Owing to a break in the machinery of the Blue Ridge Light and Power Company the cars have been off nearly the whole winter.

Leaf Tobacco Sales.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., May 2.—The leaf tobacco sales for April on the Winston market aggregated 1,319,123 pounds, bringing a total of $114,554.84, an average of 8.65 per hundred. The leaf tobacco sold on the Winston market from September 1, 1905, to May 1, 1906, aggregated 16,175,850 pounds.

Change Headquarters.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALEIGH, N. C., May 2.—A certificate is filed in the office of the Secretary of State authorizing the change of the headquarters of the Young Woman's Christian Association of North and South Carolina from Asheville to Charlotte.

Roads Convention.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BRISTOL, TENN., May 2.—The good roads convention, which was concluded this evening, several interesting lectures were delivered by expert road builders to-day.
The officers of the National Association will hold a convention at Radford tomorrow.

EXCITING RUNAWAY UP BROAD STREET

Horse Tears Up Street from City Hall to Munford; Stopped in Peculiar Manner.

An exciting runaway took place up Broad Street yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, and the horse, after tearing along twenty blocks of the crowded thoroughfare, was stopped in a most peculiar manner. Mr. Pat McDonough, whose place of business is at the corner of Broad and Munford, had left his horse harnessed to a light buggy in front of the City Hall, while he was attending to some business within. The animal became frightened from some unknown cause, and, breaking away, started along Broad at a breakneck speed. Policemen and citizens tried to stop the animal, but it swerved from one curb to the other and could not be caught. A lady barely escaped being run over at the Second Street crossing, but the horse turned in time to prevent running her down.

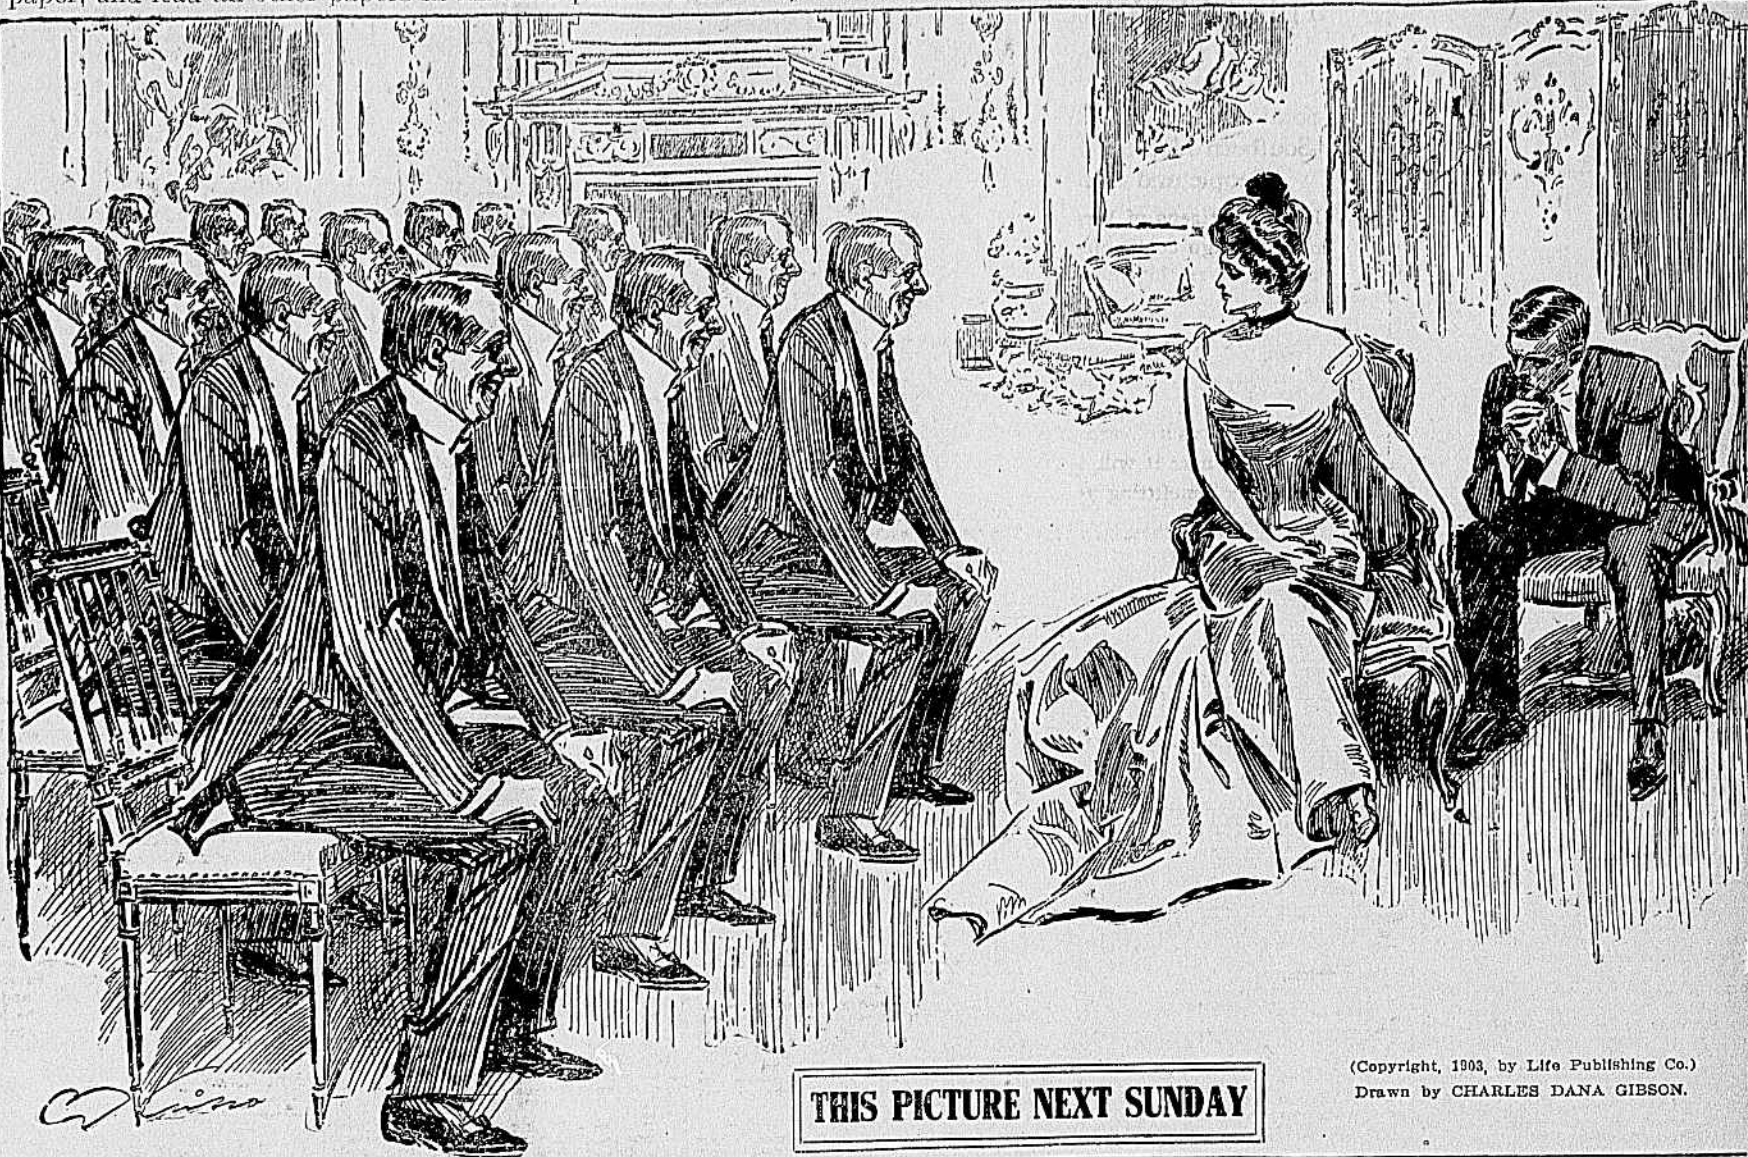

The horse was kept at the Elba Boarding Stable, on Belvidere Street, between Broad and Grace, and that was where it was evidently bound for. In turning into Belvidere Street the front wheel of the buggy struck a carriage belonging to Bennett's livery and smashed up its carriage work.
The horse was forced to take to the sidewalk here, as its speed prevented it from making a tight-angled turn. The buggy struck the rear of the carriage at about the same time its front wheels met the curb. In some inexplicable way it was tossed high in the air and turned completely over, landing squarely on top of the runaway's back. This was more than the horse had bargained for, and he stopped dead still, and gazed with long eyes into the plate-glass frontage of Bennett's stable, which was badly broken up in its attempt to do a circus backbend act, was removed from its peculiar position. The horse, strangely, escaped without a scratch.

Melodramatic Misery.

"I am like the persecuted heroine in the melodrama," complained the carriage to the team.
"Ho, ho," answered the latter, with a horse laugh.
"Yes, I am," persisted the carriage. "Just see how I am driven from home."—Josh Wink.

Three Striking Features BEGIN IN Next Sunday's Times-Dispatch.

The Times-Dispatch has arranged for three extraordinary features, to begin with Sunday, May the 6th, which the publisher believes will prove of absorbing interest and most satisfactory to the people of Virginia. It is the intention to make a metropolitan Sunday newspaper, and lead all other papers in America published in a city of less than 200,000 people.

THIS PICTURE NEXT SUNDAY

(Copyright, 1903, by Life Publishing Co.)
Drawn by CHARLES DANA GIBSON.

Twelve New Novels In Tabloid Form

Beginning next Sunday, there will appear in The Times-Dispatch the first installment of the first of the twelve new novels. The first story is "A Rock in the Baltic," by Robert Barr. It will be completed in four installments. Then another hitherto unpublished novel by an eminent author will be run in four installments, &c., until the twelve novels are published. Each book is the $1.50 kind. Times-Dispatch readers will get the novels Free before publication in book form.

"A Rock in the Baltic,"

By ROBERT BARR

Begins Next Sunday (May 6th). It will be complete in four installments. Don't miss the first.

Charles Dana Gibson Pink Sporting Section Drawings

Published by Life and Collier's Weekly

Mr. Gibson was paid $1,000 for each of these drawings. The drawings given in this series are printed in black ink, with a background of corn color on art paper.

They will be especially attractive to Virginians, because the Gibson Girl is a Virginia type—a Virginia girl—beautiful. It is astonishing that these works of the highest art can be given free with a Sunday paper.

Be Sure to See

Next Sunday's Times-Dispatch.

Every man loves good, clean athletics. The Times-Dispatch, beginning with next Sunday, will emphasize its endorsement of clean sports and a square game. It will devote printed on pink paper, to a review of the sporting events of the world, and give the very latest athletic news.

It will give the score and standing of each of the big league ball teams, the Virginia League, the Industrial League, the City League, and all amateur games of the city and State, thus covering the field of sports as it never has been covered by any Southern newspaper.

JONES TO SPEAK AT BOWLING GREEN

His Opponent Is Not Known in That Section of Northampton.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
FREDERICKSBURG, VA., May 2.—Congressman W. A. Jones will address the voters of Caroline county at Bowling Green, Monday, May 14th (court day), in behalf of his candidacy for renomination as the Democratic candidate for Congress from this district in the primary to be held June 16th. Mr. Jones is opposed for the nomination by Mr. G. O. Mears, of Northampton county. Mr. Mears is not known in this part of the district, and it is expected that Mr. Jones's vote will be very heavy, as he has been very active in advocating measures effecting this section in Congress. Among his more recent appropriations he named the increased appropriations for the channel of the Rappahannock River, up to the General Hugh Mercer monument for Fredericksburg, and the promise of an appropriation for a public building for Fredericksburg.

VIRGINIA BUILDING.

Plan for This to Be Adopted in the Near Future.

(By Associated Press.)
NORFOLK, VA., May 2.—State Senator W. W. Sale went to Smithfield today to attend a meeting of the Building Committee of the Virginia Commission of the Jamestown Exposition. It is probable that the design for the State building at the exposition will be determined upon within a few days.
The home of President Madison, in Orange county, has been suggested as an appropriate model for the building, because of its colonial design, its spacious apartments and its fitness for the site that has been selected directly on the water front. Virginia's building will adjoin those of Maryland and Pennsylvania, immediately to the left of the government pier.

Rev. J. W. Rawles, of East Radford, Va., who was recently extended a call to the Park Place Baptist Church, has accepted it, and will begin his pastorate here next week, preaching his first sermon next Sunday morning.

Mrs. Yuen Lee, the Caucasian wife of a prosperous Chinaman, who keeps a fancy goods store at No. 44 Main Street, wants to adopt somebody's baby. She was negotiating to-day for a lot that has been left in Norfolk by its mother, but the deal fell through. The grandmother of the little one refused to give it up.

CONVOCATION SERMON.

Preached at Martinsville Yesterday by Rev. J. Lloyd.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
MARTINSVILLE, VA., May 2.—At the close of Rev. George P. Craighill's sermon last night, Dr. Milton Dean, of the convocation, stated briefly the purposes for which the biennial convocations of the church were held, and extended a

The convocation sermon was preached this morning by Rev. John J. Lloyd, D. D., of Lynchburg, after which the holy communion was administered by Rev. W. H. Milton.

The afternoon session was devoted to an essay and discussion of the select discourses of John Smith, which was participated in by Rev. J. A. Nock, of Blacksburg; J. E. Owens, of Lynchburg, and W. E. Rollins, of Christiansburg.
Rev. R. C. Jett, of Staunton, preached to a large congregation to-night.

Among the new arrivals to-day were Revs. W. T. Roberts, of Rocky Mount; Charles Fetter, of Buena Vista; A. R. Berkley, of North Carolina, and Mr. Pruden, of Chatham.

KILLED BY A TRAIN.

Despondent Because of Separation from Wife, Seeks Death on Rails.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ROANOKE, VA., May 2.—Joe Burton, a track-walker, was killed this morning between Walton and Pepper by the passenger train from Bluefield. Engineer Cullen saw him standing in the middle of the track and blew the warning signal, to which Burton paid no attention. His body was horribly mangled. The engineer and passengers who saw him on the track believe he deliberately took position to suicide. He had separated from his wife, and it is believed this made him despondent.

Abingdon Is Now Dry.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BRISTOL, VA., May 2.—The reign of saloons at Abingdon is at an end, and since yesterday the people of that town have patronized a dispensary that is owned and conducted by the town authorities. It is calculated that the dispensary will be a source of much revenue to the town. The saloon men have closed up shop. R. T. Clark, one of the number, will bring his saloon business to Bristol, and this will make about twenty-five saloons for Bristol.

A Confederate Monument.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BRISTOL, VA., May 2.—The design for the monument to be erected to the memory of the Confederate dead of Washington county, has been agreed upon. The monument will be erected in the center of Main Street at Abingdon, near the courthouse. Bids will be asked for as soon as the draftsmen has completed his work. The monument will be thirty feet high, including base, die, plinth and statue. The statue will represent a Confederate soldier with gun at ready, and will be eight feet in height. The amount appropriated for the monument is $1,000.

A Family Reunion.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
FREDERICKSBURG, VA., May 2.—At a family reunion at "Clear View," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Boyd Washington, of Caroline county, a few days ago, four generations were present. Mrs. Ella C. Perkins, mother, grandmother and great-grandmother of some of those present, has just passed her eighty-fourth year, and she is active, healthy, and with unimpaired mental faculties. She drove across the country a distance of twenty-five miles to attend the reunion.

Went Suddenly Insane.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
FREDERICKSBURG, VA., May 2.—Mr. Garnett Taliaferro, a well known citizen of King George county, became suddenly insane a few days ago. He locked himself in his room and refused to admit any one. He was a brave Confederate soldier and is a widower.

Assigned to Panama.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
FREDERICKSBURG, VA., May 2.—Mr. T. B. Reamy, who has been in the service of the government in the Philippines for several years, is now visiting his father, Mr. W. D. Reamy, in Stafford county, near this city. Mr. Reamy will leave in a few days for Panama, where he has been assigned to a government position.

BRISTOL FOLKS IN EARTHQUAKE

Had Been in the City But Two Days When Destruction Came.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BRISTOL, VA., May 2.—Mr. and Mrs. J. Harlan Gray, who went from Bristol to California last fall, were in the San Francisco earthquake disaster. They had moved to San Francisco only three days before the earthquake. Their house was destroyed, but they escaped uninjured. Mr. Gray has informed his friends here that he and his wife are safe, but says that they had a trying experience, and were without a bite of food for two days when they found a patch of volunteer potatoes that sufficed to sustain life until the government rations arrived. Mr. Gray says that he learned afterwards that his tossed brick alongside Secretary of State Cury, who was compelled to work under martial law along with the rest of the men until his identity was discovered.

LETTER TO ELLINGTON & GUY

Dear Sirs: Thad R. Manning, Esq., editor of "The Gold Leaf," Henderson, N. C., sends us this tale of Devoe in his town.
Mr. James A. O'Neil's house was painted twenty years ago with Devoe; and lately was painted again.
Twenty years is too long; but the paint looked better than other paint in half the time. This answers for quality.
Takes less quantity too. A gallon Devoe will go as far as five to ten quarts of common paint. Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & CO.
P. S.—Harris Hardware Co. sell one gallon.
